UM JOURNALISM STUDENT SELECTED AS CHIPS QUINN SCHOLAR

MISSOULA--

Terri Long Fox, a sophomore in journalism at The University of Montana-Missoula, has been named a 1995-96 Chips Quinn Scholar by The Freedom Forum in Arlington, Va.

Long Fox, of Billings, is a member of the Sioux-Assiniboiné tribe. She will receive a paid summer internship at the Great Falls Tribune and a $1,000 scholarship. She will also attend an orientation session at the Freedom Forum World Center May 20-23 in Arlington.

The Chips Quinn Scholars Program was established in 1991 to bring young talent and greater diversity to newsrooms around the country. The number of scholars has grown from six in the first year to 45 this year.

The Freedom Forum is an international foundation dedicated to free press, free speech and free spirit. Some of its programs include the Freedom Forum Media Studies Center in New York City, the Freedom Forum First Amendment Center in Nashville, Tenn., and the Newseum at the Freedom Forum World Center Headquarters in Arlington, Va.
